They informed attendees that Colombian crews were responsible for burglaries, while NJ crews were responsible for car thefts. They also provided safety tips, such as leaving at least two room lights on at night and ensuring that alarm systems are connected to central monitoring systems. The police representatives informed the attendees that they have an analyst who can provide data upon request, and in regards to the topic of private patrol, stated that it's better if the patrol runs to prevent home break-ins, not car thefts and that they are unable to provide a comment for or against patrol, as it is a decision that is ultimately left to the discretion of the community.

IN Q& A, community members stated the need for street cameras, license plate readers, and crosswalk lines on Roslyn RD. Overall, the advice was focused on community safety.

The meeting adjourned at 10:10 pm.
